With the American Army in France, Thursday, June 13.—The distinguished service cross, the new American war medal, has been awarded to 11 members of the American expeditionary force by General Pershing. Announcement was made today that two officers, four non-commissioned officers and five privates, had been honored. Six of the men were decorated for bravery in action on February 28. Ambulance drivers, artillery men, infantry men and a private from the medical department compromise those honored. Following are the citations:

Private (first class) Lece McGilre—Was "on duty as a driver of an ambulance at an advanced post on April 19. During April 19-20 he made several trips to and from a dressing station reached by an exposed road in daytime for the purpose of bringing back wounded. On one of these trips the ambulance was blown from the road by an explosion of a shell and he was knocked unconscious by the shock. On recovering consciousness he returned on foot. Although he had not yet recovered from an injury to his back he wished to return to duty on the afternoon of the same day, but was not permitted to do so until the afternoon of the following day.

Private (first class) Fred A. Renick—"On April 4 was ordered to drive an ambulance to a dressing station. The road over which it was necessary to pass was under continuous shell fire. On the way to the dressing station he received a slight wound. In spite of the wound, which was dressed at the dressing station, he resumed his post. On the return trip a shell struck the car seriously wounding him and killing his passenger."

Corporal Arthur W. Jones, Company Engineers—"He persisted on leaving a shelter and searching for wounded and bringing them back to the shelter in the midst of a barrage. Carried on with the rescue work after he himself had been gassed."

First Lieutenant Cornelius Beard, Engineers—"On March 17 at the front, he was knocked down by a shell explosion which caused him to lose consciousness for some time. Upon regaining consciousness he began to search for his men. For over two hours he assisted Sergeant Need and Corporal Belanger of his detachment, back to the trenches, part of the time under the fire of a German aviator and German shells. His energy and self-sacrificing spirit throughout the entire operation was of the highest order and deserves the highest praise."

Second Lieutenant Ralph Bishop, Infantry—"Was in command of a working party of about 30 men on the night of February 23, when he encountered a heavy patrol of the enemy which protected the advance of enemy assault troops. With coolness and courage he immediately placed his men in shell-holes and fought off the enemy. Twice he walked through the enemy's and our own barrage to recover the remains of one of his party and to collect his own men."

Sergeant Eric S. Olson, Infantry—"Was a member of a working party which on the night of February 23 was well out in front of an advanced post. His party encountered a violent barrage of the enemy which protected enemy assault troops. He helped to fight off the German troops and twice walked back and forth through the enemy's and our own barrage to collect his men. When he heard that his lieutenant was in trouble he walked back again to his rescue to where the barrage had just been lifted."

Corporal Ralph S. Sanderson, Infantry—"Was a member of a working party on the night of February 23, which was well out in front of an advanced post. The party encountered a violent barrage of the enemy, which protected the enemy assault troops. He helped fight off the German troops and twice walked back and forth under the enemy and our own barrage to collect his men. When he heard his lieutenant was in trouble, he walked again to his rescue where the barrage had overtaken him."

Corporal Francis E. Hurley, Infantry—"Took part in a daring raid into the enemy's lines in the region of the Marne on the night of February 23. He showed great vigor and entire carelessness and particularly distinguished himself by leading a patrol into an enemy dugout, whose occupants had refused to surrender, and from which 16 prisoners were taken."

Private (first class) Thomas Jolly, Medical Department—"On March 6, while the area in which he was located was being heavily shelled by (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4.)

FIRM STAND IS TAKEN BY
PRES. WILSONIn the Dispute by Telegraph Companies and Its EmployeesHAD NOT COMPLIED WITH THE DECISION OF LABOR BOARDAsks That They Set Example By Prompt Acquiescence

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, June 14.—Evidence that President Wilson intends to see that the recommendations of the national war labor board are followed to the letter was seen today in the text of his communication to the heads of the two great telegraph companies asking that they accept the board's findings in their controversy with their employees.

The fact that the president had personally taken up the case became known last night with the announcement that Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph Company, that his company would waive its right to discharge men who have joined a union and that Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union, would send his answer Monday.

The war labor board's decision in the case was that the men should be permitted to join unions, although the companies should not be required to deal with the union or to recognize it.

The decision also stated that the union should not initiate strikes or permit its members to interfere with them, but should submit all grievances to the national labor board.

The president's letter to the telegraph heads, made public today reads in part:

"I am informed that the representatives of the telegraph companies have not accepted it. 'May I not say that in my judgment it is imperative necessary in the national interest that decisions of the national war labor board should be accepted by both parties to labor disputes.'"

"I do not hesitate to say that it is a patriotic duty to co-operate in this all-important matter with the government by the use of the instrumentality which the government has set up. I, therefore, write to ask that I may have your earnest cooperation in this matter, as in all others, and that you will set an example to the other employers of the country by a prompt and cordial acquiescence."

Columbus, June 14.—Conscience must be the guide to men of draft age as to whether they are engaged in a useful occupation or a non-productive one in preparing to meet Provost Marshal General Crowder's "work or fight" order.

"It will be up to men of draft age to determine for themselves whether or not they are engaged in non-productive war pursuits," Major W. S. Pealer stated at draft headquarters today, on his return from Washington. Major Pealer expects additional rulings on the "work or fight" order before it is put into effect July 1. All cases of change of employment will be reviewed by local draft boards, and if it is believed a man has disobeyed his conscience, the draft board will make his classification for him.

It was also intimated at state draft headquarters that a drastic ruling, defining in scope, will be issued soon defining the status of men married since war was declared. Although officials refused to make known the forthcoming order, it is understood that all who have married after a certain date will be inducted into the service.

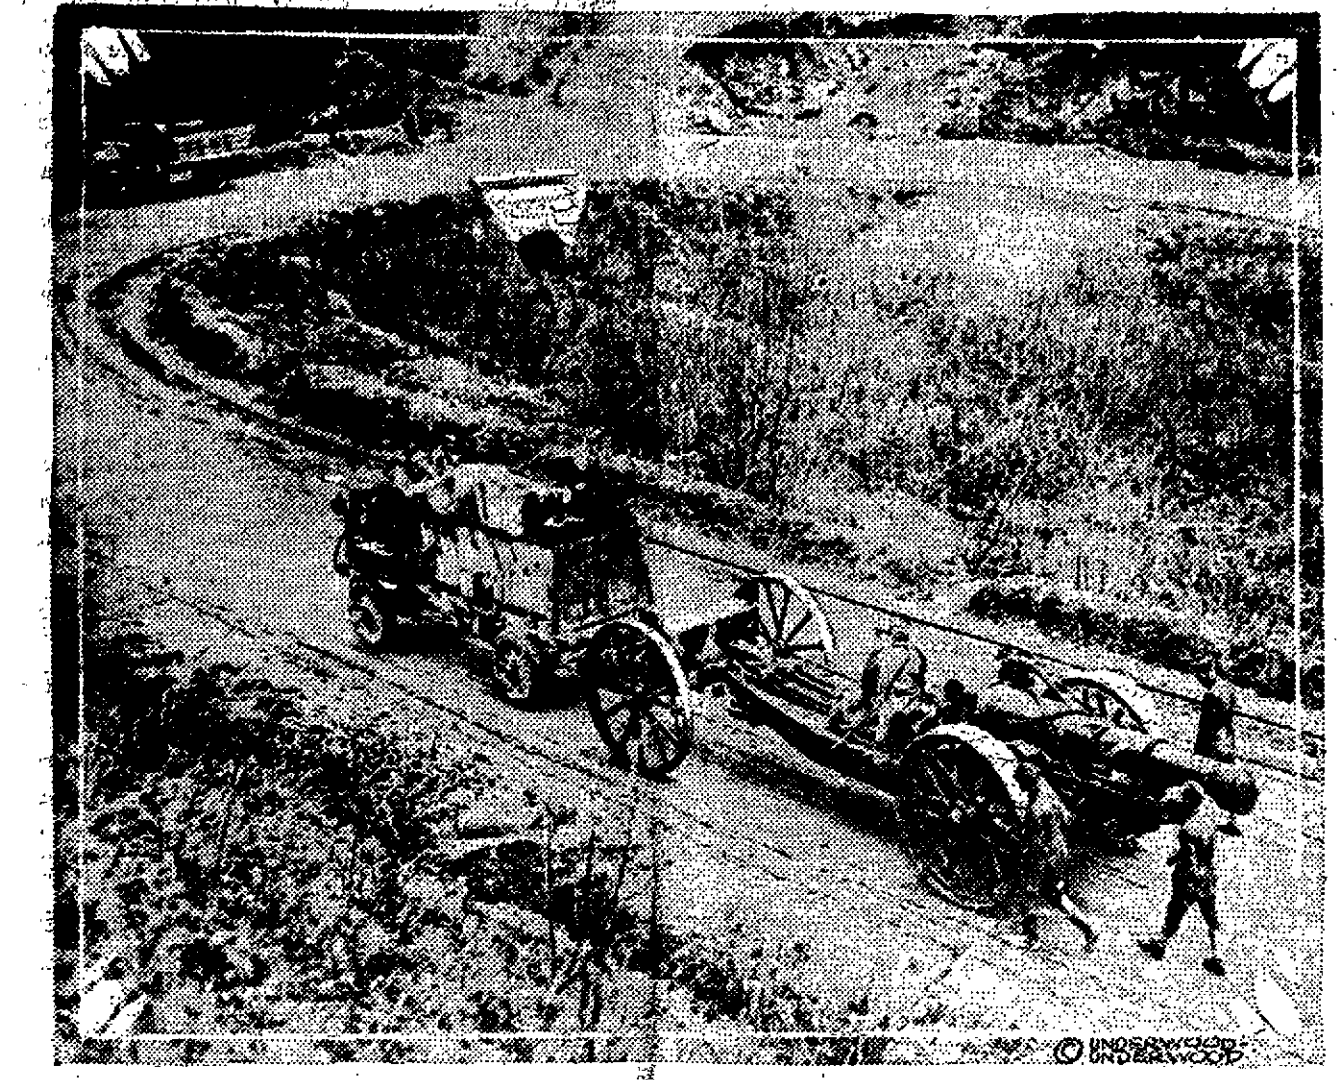

Reclassification of registrants in order to weed out and place in Class One men who have been strongly put in deferred classes will likely begin during the week of July 1st.

GERMAN TROOPS SURRENDERED TO THE AMERICANS

(Associated Press Telegram)
London, June 14.—A party of 50 Germans among the troops who attacked the Americans, northwest of Chateau-Thierry, on Thursday, surrendered under a flag of truce, reports the correspondent of the Daily Mail, with the American forces in France.

All the German attacks failed and they left behind them many dead and wounded. Describing the day's events, the correspondent says:

"The Germans apparently are annoyed at losing Belleau wood. All night and early this morning guns of almost every calibre pounded the American lines at Boursches and Belleau wood."

"Local attacks, more or less feeble in strength, followed, and the Germans entered the streets of Boursches. Nevertheless the attacks failed and the enemy left behind a number of dead, several wounded, and many prisoners, 50 of whom surrendered under a flag of truce; machine guns and trench mortars."

"About 400 enemy cavalry were discovered south of Eterpilly (north of Boursches) yesterday, but few returned after the Americans had fired into them."

"It is believed the Germans have ordered fresh divisions to the American sector near Bussieres (west of Belleau wood)."

"The excellent relations between the French and American commands is shown by the fact that a regiment of Zouaves and a division of French artillery are now working under an American divisional command."

No one but Stickleberger was reported to have been in the immediate vicinity when the explosion took place. Very little damage to material was done at the plant by the force of the explosion with the exception of dozens of broken windows.

FRENCH MESSAGES OF CONGRATULATION
SENT GEN. PERSHING

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, June 14.—The purpose of the United States to send men and materials to France until "any temporary inequality of force is entirely overcome" was reiterated by President Wilson today in replying to a message from President Poincare on the anniversary of the landing of the first American troops in Europe.

Messages of congratulation on the anniversary of his arrival in France addressed to General Pershing, commander in chief of the American Expeditionary Forces, by President Raymond Poincare of France; Premier Clemenceau, General Foch and General Petain were made public here today by General March, chief of staff.

A message of congratulation from President Poincare to President Wilson was received by news cables yesterday. The messages to General Pershing follow:

From President Poincare: "The anniversary of your arrival in France furnishes a happy occasion to address my warmest congratulations to you and the valiant troops which you command and who have so admirably conducted themselves in the recent battles. I beg you to receive the assurance of my best wishes for the continuation of your successes."

From General Foch: "A year ago brought to us the American sword. Today we have seen it strike. It is the certain pledge of victory. By it our hearts are more closely united than ever."

Paris, June 14.—Fighting on the front of the German attack has died down, there being only local operations last night, according to the statement issued by the war office today.

Between the forest of Villers-Cotterets and Chateau-Thierry (which includes the sector held by American troops) there was artillery fighting during the night. A German attack near Anteuil, west of the Oise was completely broken up.

"During the night there were local actions along the front of the German attack. The French made many successful incursions into the enemy line north of Grivesnes and in the region of Courcelles. They took 30 prisoners. Near the Loge farm they also captured prisoners. A German attack in the region of Anteuil was completely broken up."

"Between the forest of Villers-Cotterets and Chateau-Thierry heavy artillery fighting continued during the night."

"French patrols took prisoners in the region of Bussieres and west of Rheims in the Champagne battle area."

(Associated Press Telegram)
With the French Army in France, Thursday, June 13.—Five days sufficed to stay the German offensive between Montdidier and Noyon whose objective was Compiègne.

Despite long preparations the Germans were unable to overcome French resistance and brilliant counter attacks by the allied troops took back everything of importance which fell into the hands of the enemy during the first rush with large masses of troops. The Germans certainly gained some little ground, but their design failed in its great lines.

Today there was an unsuccessful German attack west of the Oise but the battlefront elsewhere in the region was calm. This may be a sign that the enemy has renounced further efforts in this direction and is about to start elsewhere.

Troops who participated in the battle as well as prisoners are unanimous in declaring that the German losses through the five days were appalling.

The French now occupy a much better line of resistance, along the front than before the battle, having straightened out a dangerous salient. The French left wing continues to threaten the German communications.

Both the staff and the troops are full of confidence that they will be able to cope with any further German efforts.

ENEMY CHECKED
(Compiled from A. P. Dispatches.)
German attacks on each side of the French salient between Montdidier and Soissons seem to have been definitely checked.

Halted in their rush toward Compiègne and unable rapidly to outflank the French by their onslaught southwest of Soissons the enemy apparently has ceased his plunging tactics which began last Sunday and for a time threatened vital French positions. The French official statement says that only local fighting has occurred along the front of attack during the last few hours.

The latest German attempt to break through the French lines lasted but five days before it reached the phase of equilibrium which has marked the end of the critical periods in the Picardy, Flanders and Aisne drives.

The Germans have been held north of the Aisne and Matz rivers, to the west of the Oise. They have failed to make serious attacks against the new French positions east of that river. Southwest of Soissons they advanced approximately a mile over a four-mile front but their progress was so slow that after the inception of the fighting little anxiety was felt concerning future events in that region.

Sectors further south which include the points at which the American forces are fighting have been heavily bombarded by the enemy but no further infantry attacks have been launched by him.

An inference that might be drawn from the apparent haste of the Germans in beginning their great attack east of Montdidier almost as soon as their sweeping advance on the Aisne front had been checked at the Marne is that another German offensive may be speedily launched. It is not improbable, according to French opinion that this blow will fall on the British front further north, either in front of Amiens or in the Flanders sector, where the German smarmy attempt to cut their way to the channel ports.

In this connection the British official statement speaks of a strong local attack by the Germans in the region of Merris on the extreme western angle of the Flanders salient. This attack was completely repulsed, it is said.

The Aisne front and the Scarpe river valley near Arras, have been bombarded by the Germans, who have not as yet, however, attempted infantry attacks on the allied lines in those regions.

Repulsed in their efforts to reach Compiègne and to drive the French back in the Montdidier region, the Germans are increasing the weight of their attack northeast of Villers-Cotterets with the apparent hope of forcing a passage between the Villers-Cotterets forest and the Compiègne forest and thus overcoming the French resistance east of the Oise.

The German offensive of the Oise is now in its sixth day, and the enemy has made slower progress in the present movement than in any of the other three he has carried out since March 21. French resistance has been growing stronger as the days have passed and Thursday the Germans, despite heavy attacks against the height positions around Mery were unable to gain and suffered severe losses from the French fire. Along the Oise, he has been thrown back across the Matz and his efforts to regain them south of the river have been unavailing.

South of the Aisne, on a front of three miles the Germans have pushed back the French about one mile in two days. Bitter fighting continues in this region and the French resistance Thursday at Laveraine, Corey and Cœuvres, was powerful enough to prevent the enemy from advancing further westward.

The Germans have a foothold in Laveraine, but have been unable to complete the occupation of the village.

While attempting to outflank the formidable natural barrier of the Compiègne forest, the Germans have shown no desire to try a frontal attack against the new French line north of the Laigue forest and north of the Compiègne forest. There has been no fighting here and the battle fronts west of the Oise and south of the Aisne, although closely related, have not been connected up yet.

German official statements of Thursday make no claim of any gains west of the Oise, and the evening report says the situation is unchanged with fighting continuing southwest of Noyon, south of the Aisne and south of Ypres. There are no allied reports on fighting south of Ypres and this may herald a new movement in the north.

Between the southern edge of the Villers-Cotterets forest and Chateau-Thierry, American troops celebrated the anniversary of the arrival of American troops in France by repulsing violent enemy attempts to drive them from their recently won positions at Belleau wood and Boursches. The enemy attacked after a heavy bombardment but was driven back with severe losses by the defensive fires of the Americans who took prisoners and machine guns.

Allied airmen continue to harass the area behind the German lines in the Montdidier-Noyon region. Many of the bombs have been dropped on enemy targets and more than a score of enemy machines were brought down Wednesday by French and British aviators. American airmen have joined in work by dropping bombs on Dommary-Baron Court. On the Toul sector in aerial fights American fighting planes have destroyed two enemy machines and driven another down out of control with the loss of one machine which landed within the German lines. British bombers also have made incursions into German.

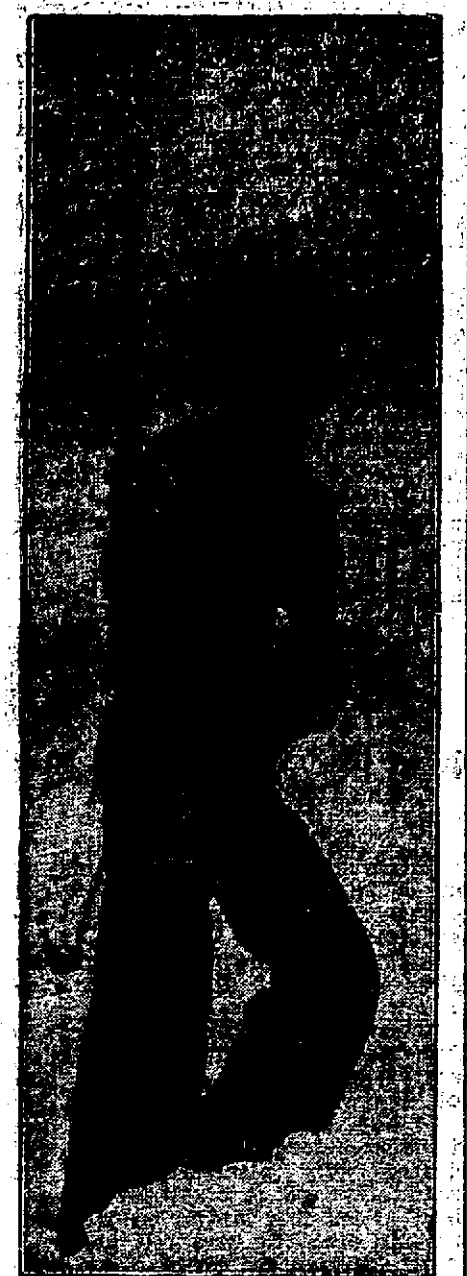

Bad weather is hampering infantry operations on the Italian front but in the mountain region the artillery fighting is intense.

French troops in operations on eastern Albania have driven the Bulgarians from 11 villages and have (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2.)

GUNNER DEPEW WILL SPEAK HERE NEXT THURSDAY

Gunner Depew, dressed in the uniform of the French navy and carrying a sword, will speak here on Thursday night, June 20th, under the auspices of the Newark Rotary club. The place of the meeting will be announced later.

A modest, smiling, American sailor lad, although only twenty-three years of age, has gone through almost unbelievable experiences. His story is the most unique that has thus far come out of the battlefields of Europe. No man has seen more of German brutality, no man has suffered more and come back to tell of it than Gunner Depew. He tells his story in the straight-forward, simple language of a sailor lad, yet he brings with him, a war message straight from the heart of the boys who are now facing the Hun's over there.

Through his ambition to defeat German propaganda in this country he has published his war experiences in his book, "Gunner Depew." Yet this wiry little sailor lad, feeling that he still had a "bit" more to do, is hurrying from city to city speaking before crowded houses and imploring the "stay-at-homes" to back up the boys over there.

The gunner is one of the few Americans who have lived to come back to tell us of the wretchedness and misery of German prison camps, especially that most infamous of all camps, Brandenburg, "the Hell Hole of Germany." Fighting with the French Foreign Legion in Belgium in 1914—gunner on the French battleship Casard—fighting the Turks at Gallipoli—winning the Croix de Guerre—wounded five times—then captured by the German raider Moewe—landed in Germany—three months of starvation and torture in German prison camps—and an interview with Ambassador Gerard, are only a few of the thrilling experiences which Gunner Depew endured.

Without doubt Gunner Depew has had a more varied experience than any other American who has yet started out to help whip the Hun.

There is nothing impersonal about his narrative. It is the plain, simple, naive tale of an American boy who has had ten times his share, and who has seen and suffered enough for ten ordinary men. You'll drink every word of it, and listen to most of it with a clenched fist—for it will stir every drop of fighting blood in your veins.

As in all of the several patriotic meetings held under the auspices of the Rotary club, admission will be free but in this instance a free will offering will be taken up to defray the expense of the meeting. Gunner Depew makes no charge for his services but in the places where he speaks he accepts whatever the audience wants to give him. He speaks within the next few days in Mt. Vernon, Zanesville, Lancaster and Columbus, and is to be here on Thursday evening, June 20th. Those who have read his book or his newspaper articles or who have heard him speak declare emphatically that he has a real war message.

Any baseball player realizes that it is much easier to do penance than to win pennants.

SURPRISE FOR THE TALENT AT ROCKPORT TRACK

Cleveland, June 14.—South Bend Girl figured as a winner yesterday at Rockport. So did Walter Peter, but Harry Leyburn, the other favorite, was taken over the hump after a sensational five-heat battle. Harry Leyburn's defeat was one of the biggest surprises of the meeting. He was picked to win the 2:15 pace in one-two-three order. To make sure that he would win, Ben Whichard was given the mount. But Harry failed to reward, and those who were on the supposedly sure thing went home sadder but wiser. Just to make the result the biggest kind of a surprise, Miss Eagle, a dejected outsider, walked off with the major portion of the purse. Miss Eagle sold for a pair; on-spec in a ticket calling for $125. She failed to show

KILLED IN PLANT AT NEW LEXINGTON

New Lexington, June 14.—Gilbert Miller, aged 26, was instantly killed at the plant of the Ludwici-Coladon Company here late today when he became entangled in the machinery of the grinding room, of which he was foreman. In drawing up a door he was caught by the belt, drawing his body into the wheels and terribly mutilating it.

The deceased is survived by a wife and one child. He formerly lived at Saratoville, Noble county, removing to this city eight years ago.

THE STUDIOUS HABIT.

Most people when they quit school quit study for the rest of their lives. Never again do they make a serious attempt to acquire any form of education except what they can pick up in their daily work. They learn what they are told by their foreman, managers of the business, and their fellow workmen. But they do not make a consistent attempt to fit themselves for bigger jobs.

We read that the German prisoners in England spend their spare time studying English, while the English prisoners in Germany kick around footballs. The latter diversion has its value, in making them forget their troubles and keeping up their health. But it is going to be hard for us in future to compete with a people who show such untiring determination to improve their abilities, and learn everything that is possible.

Every person ought to be fitting himself for some bigger job, or at the least for better command of his own job. That may or may not call for the study of books. In most lines they are work of scientific and technical information that gives the result of a great deal of past experience. Many of these ideas are known in every shop, but no one manager or foreman knows more than a fraction of them. The man who wants to rise will be seeking information from all sources available.

If every mechanic would only give one evening a week to the study of works of technical information about his trade, the product of our mechanical plant could be greatly increased.

If every office worker would give that amount of time to study of general business literature and practice, office forces would be more efficient. The farmer that wins out today is the man who follows the results of the experiment station and reads bulletins. So it is in all walks of life.

Some one having announced that for the sum of $1.00 he would tell any one how he could make cents into dollars, various Easy Marks were told to raise skunks and get scents that were thus salable.

Some people's idea of the way to encourage the young people who are finishing school and about to take up their life's work, is to tell them all the troubles and difficulties they are going to encounter.

The baseball playing Americans that the Germans so despise will be able to plug a rand grenade with great accuracy into the comfortable machine gun shelters of the Huns.

At the June weddings, the bridegroom is almost as conspicuous and popular as the waiter who serves the refreshments. An exception however is a military wedding.

Our only complaint of the dear girls that wear their furs in summer, is that they don't make the thing consistent and complete by wearing their bathing suits in winter.

It is denied that the Germans will make a public holiday for the sinking of our ships, as the subs didn't get enough women and children.

That sinking of American ships off our coast would have helped the war chest drive quite a lot if it had only come then.

SOARING US TO DEATH.

The only thing irregular about the attacks of German U-boats on our shipping, is that they failed to have it come the same day they were making their big drive in France. It will be remembered that when they drove before on March 21, they began the same day bombarding Paris with their 75-mile gun, and started their "subs" on a special attack. Their theory is that by making these examples of frightfulness all in one spectacular attack, they can terrify the entire world into submission.

The American people however are used to bluff games. They have met bullies before. They refuse to be turned from their purposes by effects to scare them out of their boots. They will not be bulldozed nor terrorized. The Germans should keep this crude stuff for the easily fooled Russians.

There will be some shipping losses on this side of the ocean, but they need not be heavy. No doubt if the U-boats get thick in American waters, it will be necessary to have coastwise merchant ships conveyed, and regularly patrolled lines of navigation established.

The ships that are sunk will be mostly those that recklessly think they can ignore warnings and take chances in dangerous territory. The transports carrying our boys will be practically safe, as there will be enough destroyers at east to watch over their voyages.

The U-boats keep carefully away from our agile little war chasers. The transports that have been torpedoed were those coming home, or in one case off northcoast of Ireland outside from the regular course to France. So let not the home folks worry much on this score.

THE RUSSIAN PUZZLE.

(Philadelphia Record.)
President Wilson prevented Japanese intervention in Siberia because he deemed it important to maintain friendly relations with the Soviet government of Russia; but there is ample reason for the growing conviction of our allies that something should be done to prevent the addition of Russia to the resources of Germany. There are reports that Germany is forcing Russians into its armies, or inducing them to enlist under its flag; it is not material to the allies how voluntary the action is.

If the Soviet government is subservient to Germany, it is hostile to the allies, and it must be treated as an enemy. We do not regard very seriously the German scheme for getting possession of the Russian Black Sea fleet, putting German crews on board and sending the vessels into the Mediterranean to attack the fleets of the allies. The Russian Black Sea fleet is of very little value; it was hardly able to hold its own against the Turkish fleet, and the allied fleets could destroy the vessels as they emerged singly from the Dardanelles.

But if the Soviet government shall deliver the Black Sea fleet to Germany, which it is reported to have agreed to do in consideration of the fleet's return after the war, then the Soviet government is an ally of Germany, it is making war on the allies, and it is imperative that the allies should take steps to disable the new enemy.

Japan should have a mandate from the allies to occupy Siberia, and international jealousy might be allayed by having American and British troops accompany the Japanese. Probably allied troops could be sent into Russia through the Arctic ports. It is becoming clearer that the Soviet government is no more than the creature of Berlin, and whatever means the allies have or can find in preventing the Russian reinforcement of the German armies and the supplying of Germany should be taken immediately. If anything can be done—and in Siberia much can be done—not a day should be lost. If the Soviets are going to do the bidding of Berlin they are enemies of the allies.

Finnish factions appeal to Germany to send them a king. Reminding one of Aesop's frogs, who appeared to Jupiter for a king—and he sent a stork, which ate them.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

SCOFFERS AND DOUBTERS

Why Let Prejudice Bind you to a Life of Rheumatic Torture.

Be fair to yourself, you suffer from rheumatism, no matter what form. Go to T. J. Evans or any good druggist and get a package of Rheuma, the guaranteed prescription. Use the entire bottle, and if you don't think it has given you quick and sure relief, say so, and you can have your money back.

Isn't that a fair offer? Can you see any deceit or red tape about it? What chance do you take? Absolutely none.

Then get a bottle of Rheuma today. It's a reputable physician's prescription, altogether different from remedies usually prescribed, free from narcotics, and perfectly harmless. Rheuma acts on the kidneys and helps to force the uric acid from the swollen joints and other lodging places. It pleases you in a day; it makes you hopeful and happy in a week. It has released from bondage rheumatic sufferers who thought nothing would give relief. It should do as much for you—it sells down.

Don't miss this money-back offer. A large bottle, sufficient for two weeks' treatment, is inexpensive. Advertisement.

PENSION BILL IS DISCUSSED BY WM. A. ASHBROOK

Hon. William A. Ashbrook in discussing the bill increasing the rates of pensions of soldiers and sailors of Civil War—the Sherwood pension bill made the following address in the following address in the house of representatives at Washington. The following report is taken from the congressional record of June 11:

Mr. Speaker, I gladly support the amended Sherwood bill, not because I think it is the best bill that we could enact into law for the benefit of the Civil War veterans, but because by accepting this bill it will mean an immediate increase of pension for nearly every one of these old soldiers. Surely if we honestly intend to do anything for them it must be done quickly, as they are dying daily at an appalling rate. An amendment of any kind, no difference how unimportant or insignificant, would send the bill back to conference. It would then be necessary for both house and senate to agree to the conference report which might not be made for weeks, or possibly defeat its passage. In the meantime hundreds of these old comrades would have passed over. Therefore there is but one thing to do, and that is to forget our own put notions on this legislation and let it go through without amendment or prolonged debate.

In this connection I am proud to cite to you the magnanimity and high position taken by that grand old man, General Sherwood, the chairman of the house committee on invalid pensions, who, without a moment's hesitation surrenders his own honest convictions as to some of the provisions he believes should be incorporated in this bill and moves to concur in the senate amendment. He does this because he wants no further delay in this legislation and understands, as we all do, that this legislation is made up of compromises.

The house passed the Sherwood bill on the sixth of last month. The senate amended the bill by substituting what is known as the Smoot bill and passed it on June 4. It was referred back to the house on the fifth. General Sherwood was then lying in bed at his hotel suffering from the effects of being knocked down by a street car in this city a few evenings ago. He immediately called the committee together to meet at his hotel yesterday morning. I am pleased to say this bill was agreed to without dissenting vote, and feel honored that I am a member of the committee which has to do with this legislation. The committee believed that it was wise to accept the bill, even though the members felt as I did that it could be improved, rather than take chances of delay.

And here comes the splendid climax of this deserving piece of pension legislation. It was indeed a noteworthy sight to see hobbling through your door of this historic chamber that grand old veteran, General Isaac R. Sherwood, respected and loved by all, now in his 84th year, and who enlisted on April 6, 1861, as a private and was mustered out as a brigadier general on Oct. 8, 1865, after four and one-half years of distinguished and faithful service to his country, and who today, though considerably disabled, has lost none of his fighting spirit, as evidenced by his cheering assurance to friends who assisted him to enter this hall. He said, "I do not think I was born to be killed by bullets, shrapnel, or street cars," and puts his seal of approval on this bill by moving to concur. And still there are some cheap and partisan enough who would like to rob General Sherwood of the credit of this legislation. Is there a man in this house today who has pleaded longer or more consistently and zealously for liberal pensions than my distinguished colleague? If there is I would thank some gentleman to name him. There is not another member here in his class as a true friend of the old soldiers.

I was fortunate to come here with General Sherwood in the sixtieth congress, and have been daily associated with him for the past 11 years. I recall how in the sixtieth and sixty-first congresses it was impossible for General Sherwood to even get a hearing on his dollar-a-day bill, and not until the sixty-second congress did the Sherwood bill of May 11, 1912, become a law. It was the most generous pension law ever enacted at that date, and I think no one will fail to give full credit for this law to General Sherwood. Because this bill today comes back to us amended takes none of the credit from its author, who inspired the legislation. It is still the child of the parent who conceived it. I give full credit to all those who have aided in the passage of this bill in its present form, but it is none the less the Sherwood bill, and I believe his old comrades all over this broad land of ours will not be unmindful of their great obligation to General Sherwood.

The original Sherwood bill, as it passed the house on May 6, recognized the disabled veterans. That bill does not. It provided for a maximum pension of $50 per month, while this bill makes $40 the maximum. It increases all pensions on an average of over 20 per cent, and had it fixed the minimum pension of $30 per month would in my judgment, have been a far better bill than the one now make a law. It may be well said, however, that no general pension law ever did or ever will do exact justice to all beneficiaries, and as this bill will bring substantial relief to practically every surviving soldier, I am delighted to support it, because I am, as you well know, a firm believer in liberal pensions.

There are living today less than 305,000 Civil War veterans. Their average age is 75. Ten years from today there will probably be less than 10,000 of these old comrades alive. One hundred are dying every day. One old hero closes his eyes to open no more on earth every 15 minutes. They are practically all down and out. Their great service to this nation can not be overestimated. When we consider their sacrifices and gallant service, the pensions we pay them is still a pittance. God bless the old blue-coat, brass-buttoned veterans. I do not believe there are ten men in congress today who in their hearts begrudge the pensions paid them by a grateful government.

The great war now upon us has changed the views of practically all in favor of liberal pensions. Today the strong arm of law reaches out and commands every young man between the age of 21 and 31, with but few exceptions, to abandon the plow, the shop, the store, the profession, and put on the uniform to take up arms to defend our country, and make liberty and freedom lasting and secure. How many who have contributed a son or loved one to this righteous cause—and but few homes have or will escape—feel that the pay of a soldier is a just estimate and recognition that their boys should receive for the offer of his life in the defense of our country? Not one will say our soldiers have been well paid; and when they come home, if they do—thousands maimed, crippled and diseased for life—we are through with you; you have been well paid; now dig for yourself. These brave boys are not fighting for themselves. They are fighting for you, and for me, and for all humanity. Those who remain at home in security and peace to enjoy the prosperity that war ever makes have not discharged their debt when they have paid the soldier for the service that he has rendered. Not one of our brave lads should ever suffer for the necessities of life, and I trust, never will. I am proud that our soldiers today are the best paid soldiers in the world; and yet we have no warrant to boast about. Let us do by others as we would have them do by us. We have always entertained these views of the debt of a nation to its defenders, and that is why I have always earnestly advocated liberal pensions. This is why I favor this bill. That is the way I feel not only toward the civil war veterans and their dependents, but toward all soldiers of all wars. It is a disgrace to permit a soldier to die in an almshouse. I warn my constituents not to send me back to congress if they do not want me to work and vote for liberal and generous pensions.

I desire to here include in my remarks a copy of a bill (H. R. 7355) which I introduced on December 11, 1917:

Section 1. That any person who served in the military or naval service of the United States during the Civil War who has been honorably discharged therefrom, and who is now on the pension roll or who may hereafter be placed on the pension roll, and who has reached the age of 70 years or over, shall upon making proof of such facts, according to such rules and regulations as the Secretary of the Interior may provide, be entitled to receive a pension as follows: In case such person has reached the age of 70 years, $30 per month; in case such person has reached the age of 75 years, $35 per month; in case such person has reached the age of 80 years, $40 per month. That any person who served in the military or naval service of the United States during the Civil War and received an honorable discharge, and who was wounded in battle or in the line of duty and is now unfit for manual labor by reason thereof, or who from disease, accident, or other disability is now totally incapacitated to perform labor of any kind, and who is without income other than his pension, shall be paid $50 per month, without regard to age.

I know it is using water that has gone over the wheel to refer to my bill, but it is, in my humble judgment, a better bill than the one I have before us, and I regret exceedingly that I could not secure its passage.

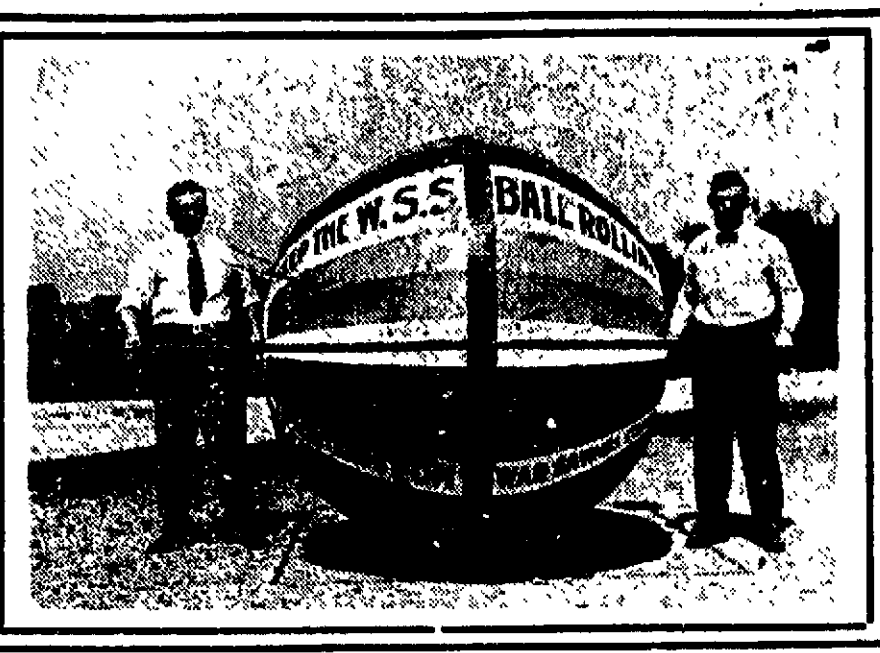

I also wish to here insert the amended Sherwood bill, which is to become a law, for the information and benefit of those who may read these remarks.

That the general pension act of May 11, 1912, is hereby amended by adding a new section, to read as follows:

Sec. 6. That from and after the passage of this act the rate of pension for any person who served 90 days or more in the military or naval service of the United States during the Civil War, now on the roll or hereafter to be placed on the pension roll and entitled to receive a less rate than hereinafter provided, shall be $30 per month. In case such person has reached the age of 72 years and served six months, the rate shall be $32 per month; one year, $35 per month; one and a half years, $38 per month; two years or over, $40 per month. Provided, That this act shall not be so construed as to reduce any pension under any act, public or private: Provided further, That no pension attorney, claim agent, or other person shall be entitled to receive any compensation for presenting any claim to the Bureau of Pensions under this act, except in applications for original pension by persons who have not heretofore received a pension.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to refer to a little incident which came to my notice today while serving as one of the conferees on the 10 omnibus pension bills now in the Senate. If I may do so with propriety, I might say that some of these bills have been in the Senate since last December, and I discovered that six of the beneficiaries from my district have died since the House passed these bills, a fresh example of what delay in this legislation means. One of the items was in favor of the widow of an old soldier who now lives in the West. Her soldier husband was at one time Commissioner of Pensions. She wrote the former Speaker of this House, Uncle Joe Cannon, and thanked him for the interest he had taken in securing the passage of her bill. It is the splendid, unselfish spirit of Uncle Joe, quite in contrast with that of some others, which struck me most forcibly, as I know it will you, when I read from this widow's letter: "Mr. Cannon wrote me that Gen.

W. S. S. BALL ROLLING ALL AROUND THE STATE

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—What the Ohio War Savings Committee terms the best piece of publicity yet arranged for the War Savings Stamp campaign in this state is the Ohio War Savings Ball, which started this week from Columbus on its tour of the state. The "feature" is due to return to Columbus early in August, after which it will be started on its trip to Washington.

The sphere—it is made of galvanized iron, 19 feet in circumference and weighs close to 1,000 pounds—was manufactured and donated to the Ohio War Savings Committee by the W. E. Lamneck Furnace Company, Columbus. It is being piloted over the state by an automobile truck, services of which have been donated jointly by the Garford Motor Truck Company, Lima and the Ohio Macadam Association, Columbus.

Smash Ahead!
If General Foch is withholding his counter-stroke upon the ground that Sherwood had more effect in putting this bill through than he had," and so forth. Hats off to Uncle Joe Cannon. He does not seek to unduly take credit to himself that which may justly belong to others. If the Danville district and the Toledo district do not keep in Congress to their last day—and may their days be many—their present Representatives, they will lack the good judgment I accord to them. This pair of octogenarians are the pride and delight of the House, and I think I voice the sentiment of every member when I express the fervent wish that they may both die in the harness.

I repeat that I am glad to support this bill, as I have all other pension legislation. The beneficiaries will not long enjoy the increased pensions which is so justly due them but I hope and pray that it will add somewhat to the happiness of their last days, and that they may appreciate and know that Congress and the American people will never forget or forsake those who offer their lives for the cause of liberty, freedom and justice.

WHILE AT WAR

Women of Ohio Suffer at Home.

St. Bernard, Ohio.—"Five years ago, while passing through the critical time of life, I was about given up by all the doctors, but they told me that probably an operation would benefit me, so my husband called a specialist; he said I was too far gone to operate—that I had about two weeks to live. I had been advised by a friend to try Dr. Pierce's Remedies, and as I had resort I sent for the 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Lotion Tablets.' After a faithful use of the medicines I am, after five years, a living monument to God's mercy and Dr. Pierce's Medicines.

"My daughter and I are now both taking the 'Medical Discovery' for the lungs. I have taken three bottles and the pain in my lung has ceased and the cough is gone. I intend to keep on taking it. I thank God that I heard of these medicines; the 'Discovery' is also helping my daughter."—MRS. ALICE WATSON, 313 Cleveland Avenue.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio.—"I am glad to speak highly of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I used it because I needed a tonic and also had a cough. I had used other remedies, which did little good. Then I took 'Golden Medical Discovery' and it helped me to get over the cough and made my health better."—MRS. C. S. WILSON, 715 Broadway.

"Favorite Prescription," the ever-famous friend to ailing women, and "Golden Medical Discovery," the greatest general rectorator are both put up in liquid and tablet form, and are to be found in nearly all drug stores. They have enjoyed an immense sale for nearly 50 years, which proves their merits as well as the statements made by users. If not obtainable at your dealer's send $1.25 to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and he will mail large package of either tablets."

EATLESS DAYS WERE COMMON

Queen City Woman Tells How She Overcame Stomach Trouble.

Think of your stomach being so out of shape that you couldn't eat scarcely anything because of bad after-effects.

That's just the way Mrs. Mary Miller, 708 Race street, Cincinnati, used to be. But—"I can eat anything I want since I've been taking Tanlac." That's what Mrs. Miller says now. She told the whole story as follows: "I had a lot of trouble with my stomach before I took Tanlac. I bloated badly after eating and I'd feel stuffy and drowsy for a long time. Food just laid in my stomach without digesting at all. I felt heavy. I could scarcely eat potatoes or anything greasy because of bad effects that always resulted.

"Well, finally I tried Tanlac. It seemed to help me from the start. My stomach is back in fine shape now and I can eat anything I want without bad after effects. Tanlac is a great medicine, and I recommend it."

Tanlac remedies are being introduced in Newark at Erman's Arcade Drug store. Tanlac may also be procured at the Evans pharmacy (Wardens Hotel block, east side square, Newark), and the Hebron Drug store, Hebron, O.—(Adv.)

A delightful barn dance was given Thursday evening at the A. B. Crawford barn in Sharon Valley road by the members of the County Cycle American flags of various sizes formed the trimming in the spacious barn and as the guests arrived they were given paper caps of patriotic coloring which made the whole affair beautiful in appearance. James E. Currie, of the Newark Electric company gave a splendid lighting display throughout the barn. The Johnson orchestra of Granville provided delightful music throughout the evening. Light refreshments were served to one hundred fifty guests. The proceeds of the affair will be given to the war chest.

Milady's Boudoir

Neck and Shoulders.

It is not given to every woman to have a beautiful neck, shoulders or chest. But the most of the trio as nature gave them to her, by massage and exercise. Salt baths of sea salt or common salt, also tend to clear the skin of the neck and bring the blood to the surface, giving it the glow of health.

Some good cold cream applied to this part of the body, keeps the pores open and help the skin to throw off its secretions which may be the cause of the pores.

Any exercise which stretches the muscles of the back, the chest and the neck, will keep away from the neck flesh and make the flesh hard and firm. Exercise will also add flesh to the thin neck. The neck sometimes gets dark from high tight collars. For this a bleach should be used and there is magic in lemon juice.

Powdering the exposed shoulders and chest takes away all the natural healthy glow of the skin. Any skin that may appear may be removed with a soft flannel cloth or a chamomile. Rub the skin very gently without powder, as the skin remains more healthy than when covered with a lot of powder, and the gentle friction answers the same purpose as the powder.

Some women whose back is not well formed does well to wear a dress cut much lower and still not appear to be immodest. The light chiffon or lace throws so popular this season make a soft finish for a low cut gown. The gleam of a white back and shoulders, shining through the fragile material, is more fascinating than the bare skin.

Alas! I have nothing to live for now, wailed the rejected lover.

Oh, pshaw! returned the practical maiden. Better stick around until the kaiser is hanged.—Kansas City Star.

Our Boys and Girls

Dresses for the summer baby may be made of any number of materials. Six or eight dresses are sufficient. If you are wise you will make the neckband at least 11 inches and the armholes and wristbands a wee bit larger than the ordinary pattern demands. These can be satisfactorily shortened at the end of the fourth month and will be found to be serviceable for several months or until outdoor. The infant sized dress is now made but 27 inches in length.

A clever way to shorten the long dress is to turn up a hem three inches, bast it and featherstitch in a serpentine line on the right side and then cut the material from underneath. The raw edges will be sufficiently held by the feather stitching to prevent fraying.

Sleeves may be taken up temporarily by running tiny tucks across them, and both sleeves and neck openings secured with elastic. Run the elastic with narrow hobbins, which launders better than ribbon and is not likely to tangle into untieable knots.

Every Day Etiquette

"During what hours should a formal call be made," asked Mahel, "and if I am unable to attend a given evening at a private home, should I make a party call?"

"Between the hours of three and six in the afternoon are formal calling hours, and you should certainly make a party call after the unattended luncheon," replied her mother.

To Remove Paint.

To remove paint from varnished wooden chairs, scrub them with a strong solution of washing soda.

NERV-WORTH WON WHEN SEVERAL DOCTORS FAILED

Mate Meldrum of The Barge Golden Age Tells The Convincing Story.

Mr. Meldrum, of Fair Haven, Mich., made the following remarkable statement at the Graham Drug Store, Sandusky, a few days ago:

"For a great number of years I have been troubled with nervousness and the past year was unable to get any restful sleep. Tossed about the bed all night. Have also had severe stomach trouble. Was afraid to eat a regular meal as it caused me much misery and uneasiness. The gas forming in my stomach seemed to choke me and my heart action was very bad. In fact, I lost flesh rapidly and dropped from 185 to 150 lbs. and was going down hill rapidly. I purchased a bottle of Nerv-Worth and took it regularly and now, after using only two bottles all the troubles mentioned have left me. I can sleep soundly, appetite good, digestion fine, and no more stomach trouble or nervousness and my heart action is normal. Am gaining in weight. I think there is no other remedy like Nerv-Worth and it put me in fine condition, when several doctors failed.

Quality+Quantity+Service Furniture

The Only Combination Which Spells Satisfaction

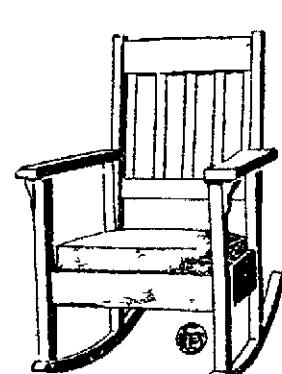

It is not what you pay for an article that determines the money you are saving. True economy means first, right QUALITY —the character of merchandise that will stand the acid test of time and usage, always reflecting perfection in design and workmanship. And the second point in our triangle, is right QUALITY—the most that your money will bring from a store that makes smaller profits and larger sales its policy at all times.

And last, but not least, right SERVICE is essential. This means courteous salesmen, whose sole endeavor it is to help you and co-operate with you. It means a salesroom which insures your comfort and convenience. It means a delivery system which brings the goods when you want them. And most of all, it means a credit system which enables you to pay according to your personal circumstances, making lack of ready cash no drawback to action.

 Was Member of Class.
 In the published list of members of the class of 1913, given in the "15 years ago" column of the Advocate, the name of Warren Suter was inadvertently omitted. Mr. Suter, cashier of the Franklin National bank, was a member of that class and one of his friends informed the Advocate representative that while his department was not always 100 yet he was on the honor roll for regular attendance and not having any tardy marks chalked up against him.

One Piano Damaged.
 Water from a wash basin in the one piano was somewhat damaged central department entered the studio through the second story window before Mr. Mueller arrived and shut off the water before much damage was done.

Enlists in Navy.
 Robert Ashley, former Newark high school athlete, has recently enlisted in the navy. He graduated from Newark high school with the class of 1909 and from Denison University in 1913. Last January he received his degree from the Kirkville School of Osteopathy, Kirkville, Mo. and since that time has been an intern at the hospital there, up until June 1. He enlisted in the naval hospital unit and will receive his training at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

Finds His Bicycle.
 George Lester, employed by the Miller Hardware company, reported to the police department this morning that he had located his bicycle reported on Saturday as stolen. The man who was riding it explained that he had borrowed it from a neighbor to come up street on end immediately turned the wheel over.
 The man from whom the wheel was borrowed will have a chance to explain his possession of it.

A Still Alarm.
 A still alarm called the fire department to the home of James E.
 Murphy, East Main street, last night at 9 o'clock. Someone from the K.

 cigar from a window and it fell on a shingle roof igniting it.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

Naval Training Station,
 Great Lakes, Ill., June 11, '18
 The Newark Advocate and people of Licking county:

Dear Friends—I received the medal the other day of which you and the people of Licking county gave me, and I tell you that no one can imagine how proud I am over it.
 For it is the most beautiful medal that I have ever seen given for a person enlisting to save our country from the Huns for we are going to save it too.

The following is a little of what I have had since I enlisted into the famous branch of service which is called the United States Marine corps. I was sworn in on the 23rd of April 1918 at Paris Island, S. C.
 The island is surrounded by the Atlantic ocean just off the coast of South Carolina. It surely is a fine place to train our men for their country's service.

After I was sworn in they gave me a complete marine outfit including also a rifle and bayonet. All you have to have yourself is a few handkerchiefs for they give you the rest.

They started me into a company of 60 men to drill. I was selected for what is called the pivot man of the company, which position I still hold. After five weeks of real hard drilling and it was hard too, but it was interesting; I didn't think of ever kicking. We were sent on the rifle range with a range coach for each man. I was on there a little over two weeks and was to shoot for record June 6th.

But the marines officers selected 120 mechanical men to be given aviation training at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station out of about 15,000 men from the island, and I was lucky enough to be one of the 120, so I didn't get to shoot for record. We are the first marines ever to be given this kind of training and we are also the first marines ever at the Great Lakes Naval Training station.
 We had things very fine on the island, but I will surely say they also have everything fine up here also.
 So far as I have seen Uncle Sam treats his boys fine, no matter where they are. All he asks is for them to meet him half way and he will come the other half, if not a little more. I can't tell you much about our course up here for we just started in but it is all about aviation mechanical motor engineering, so I know it will be real interesting.
 The sailors or (jackies) surely do use us fine, they gave us a hearty welcome when we arrived last Saturday morning at 7 o'clock. Well I will close giving my best regards to all the people in the good and best county of the world (Old Licking) of which I am surely proud of.

 I remain, yours truly,
 Marine Priv. Arlie Ray Dixon,
 Naval Training Station, Great Lakes,
 Ill., Co. I, Reg. 6th.

Mrs. Sarah Flannigan, 572 North Woods avenue, has received the following letter from her son, Private Thomas Flannigan of Co. C, 101st Engineers, A. E. F., and he enclosed the following bit of verse:

"American Expeditionary Force,
 May 22, 1918.
 "Dear Mother—I received four letters, and I was very glad to hear from you, and to know you were alright on March 20, when the last one was written. I suppose the potatoes you told me about will be ready to eat by the time you get this.
 The weather here has been simply grand all this month; before that we had a great deal of rain. Where is Russell building his new house? I was glad to hear that the boys got a chance to come home for they were panned in all winter nearly. How are your chickens getting along? Expect they are big enough to fry by this time. I am glad you are going to think the way you told me, for I am sure I will get along alright. I will take good care of myself. And as for being good, you know all about that. I had a letter from Epp a few days ago, and he is getting along alright. Tell Mr. Freiner that I hear from him often, and he told me he hadn't received any mail yet. I write to you once or twice a week, so you know about how often you should get them. Maybe they all come at one time, like they do here. I wrote to papa about that trouble he had,
 and I want him to go to the doctor.
 Tell Miss Warman that I thank her for her good wishes, and I hope she is getting along alright. Have you sold the horse yet? I saw Frank Johnson and had a talk with him.
 He looks fine, and he told me he likes it real well. Where did uncle and aunt move to? Tell them that I send my best, and will make a trip out to see them when I come back.
 The letters I received from you were dated February 27, March 7-16 and 20, so you can see if I get as many as you write. Now, be sure and get Richard his money when school is out. I wrote and told you about this before, but maybe you don't get all the letters. I will write to Jessie tomorrow and tell her I received some mail from her. Now, tell all the folks I send my best, and I would write if I had time. Now, be sure and take good care of yourself, and be sure and don't work hard. I will close for this time, with love to all.

 "Private Thomas Flannigan,
 "Co. C, 101st Engineers, American Expeditionary Force."

De're goin' to call me "Sammy"—
 Just who I got to tank?
 My Gawd, what have I did?
 Why don't they make it "Ferdinand."
 Or "Cutie, dear," or "Kid?"
 And stick to good old "Tank?"

Now, dere's a name I fall fer,
 It's big and strong and frank.
 Yo, dere's a sound dat's got some stuff,
 A good, loud-bellowed "TANK!"
 I'll bet some Sewin' Circle
 Or some newspaper crank Wished dat dere "Sammy" on me. Hell!
 Why don't they call me "Tank?"
 —F. A. M. Jr.

Newport, R. I., June 11, 1918.
 The Newark Advocate—Dear Sirs:
 I wish to thank you and the people of Licking County for the beautiful service medal which I received yesterday. Only those lucky enough to be in the service and receive a medal can know how we boys appreciate them. They prove to us that the folks back home not only have an interest in the outcome of this great struggle but an interest in each of her sons who are giving their all for the cause.

I have been on the island here for nearly five weeks. It was quite hard at first to adjust myself to a sailors life but can truthfully say that I have succeeded at last.

We are all anxious to get moving and do things that count. The average time of a seaman's training now is from five to seven weeks, so you can see it won't be long.

Before the war this station could only handle 4000 men but at the present time there is over 10,000 here.

I have found nine men here from home and within a day or so will send you the names of those who have never received medals.

Thanking you again for the remembrance, I am Yours truly, Owen Heatwole.

LOCAL BOARD EXPLAINS WORK OR FIGHT LAW

Owing to numerous inquiries about the recent regulation of the war department requiring men to get into productive industries known as the "work or fight" law the local board thinks it proper to explain their interpretation of these regulations.

First. These provisions govern men who are registered and classified in Classes 1, 2, 3, and 4 and none other.

Second. Registrants in Class 5 are not included.

Third. Men who registered June 5, 1918, have not yet been classified and are not yet included.

Fourth. These rules are designed to get men who are fit to fight but are not taken on account of dependency of wife or relative, into productive employment.

Fifth. Productive industries does not mean such as make war material or foodstuffs only. Such industries are "essential industries."

Productive industries are such as sustain the social fabric and thus contribute to sustain the war.

These regulations mean to govern such men as are classified in 1, 2, 3, 4 and the following occupations are not allowed.

First. They must work at a producing occupation unless sick or on a reasonable vacation. No idlers.

Second. Waiters serving food or drink in public places, hotels or social clubs.

Third. Operators of passenger elevators, doormen, footmen, carriage openers and other attendants in clubs, hotels, stores, apartment houses, office buildings and bath-houses.

Fourth. Men engaged in connection with sports, games and amusements, such as ushers and other attendants, as doorkeepers, ticket sellers and all other excepting actual performers in legitimate concerts, operas or theatres. Those excepted include musicians, stage hands, actors and singers or others performing on the stage. In picture shows this provision excepts the operator of the machines.

Fifth. Persons employed in domestic service. This includes chauffeurs in private families, and all classified men as above stated who are employed about homes.

Sixth. Sales clerks and other clerks employed in stores and other mercantile establishments. This does not include truck or delivery wagon drivers or heads of departments who incidentally clerk nor buyers and stock keepers. Nor does it include bank clerks or office clerks. It includes and governs sales clerks employed in stores and other mercantile establishments. Also it includes all other clerks in mercantile establishments. The term "mercantile establishment" will not admit receive a definition by the department before long. But we think "stores and mercantile establishments" includes wholesale and retail sellers of all kinds of articles or goods and chattels subject to manual delivery.

There will be many cases arise which are near the dividing line and such cases should be submitted to the local board in writing for decision.

These regulations provide that the local board upon complaint being made to it or from its own knowledge and investigation shall investigate any case coming thus to its knowledge after giving due notice to the party complained of and after deciding the complaint send all decisions to the district board at Columbus for review. And if the person is found guilty of improper idleness or of working at an employment forbidden to registrants in Classes 1 to 4, inclusive, then such person will be advanced to Class 1 and sent to camp with the first contingent going to camp.

SEVERAL MORE FILE PAPERS FOR PRIMARY

The possibility of securing a county office, does not seem so attractive this year as in former times, for the list of candidates filling papers over the state is comparatively small, and in many cases candidates will have no opposition. Among these is Charles Flory, Democrat, for prosecuting attorney.

The names filed up to midnight last night when the privilege closed, were James P. Oldaker, Republican for commissioner; Elijah A. Bryan, Democrat, sheriff; T. C. Jury, Republican for county treasurer; Michael Sachs, Republican for clerk of the courts; and two new candidates for the congressional job, Charles P. Neal, Mt. Vernon, Democrat and David Wesley Wood, Mt. Vernon, Republican.

SUB. COMMANDER SERVED AS MATE IN THE U. S. NAVY

New York, June 14.—The commander of the U-151, one of the German submarines which have been operating off the American Atlantic coast has been identified as Captain Neustidt, and he served five years as a gunner's mate in the United States navy, according to affidavits of officers and sailors on the schooners Hattie B. Dunn, Edna and Hauppauge, victims of the submarine. The documents were brought here today by naval reserve officers arriving from Cuba.

The seamen who made the affidavits are those who were picked up by a southbound American steamer after having been held prisoners aboard the submarine for eight days and then set adrift. The American steamer took them to Cuba where they were examined by the naval reserve officers.

The affidavits give details also of the submarine's construction and armament.

The submarine is manned by a crew of 76; is 210 feet long, 29 feet wide; has a shell of 3-4-inch steel, two 5.9-inch guns mounted for and aft, is equipped with two periscopes, one over the conning tower and the other aft; has found stationary rapid fire guns on deck, below decks, in racks; carries 100 rapid-fire rifles, and had aboard 18 torpedoes, according to the affidavits.

Captain Neustidt told his captives, he said, that his vessel left Kiel April 14 and up to June 2 had sunk 15 ships, six of which were American. From the schooner Isabel B. Wiley, the commander declared he took enough food to provision his craft for six weeks.

The U-boat skipper professed reluctance to sink American vessels, but said he had no alternative, as he "had been ordered by wireless from Kiel to get busy or come home."

The food taken from the Wiley, the men declared, was badly needed, as the raider's rations consisted mainly of black bread, poor coffee, stewed fruit and potato soup.

Nineteen survivors in all of the three American schooners were picked up by the southbound American steamer of which 11 members of the crews of two of the schooners, had been prisoners on the U-boat.

During this time the men said they were put to work polishing and cleaning torpedoes, carried in the hull of the U-boat.

The naval reserve officers who examined them were officers of the American steamer.

Honor.
May I see the mayor? asked a member of the city council of the former's servant.
Not at present; he's at dinner.
But my business is most important.
I cannot help it, sir. His honor is at steak.—Tid-Bits.

Jack—They say candy is a cure for fatigue.
Neil—Shouldn't wonder. I know the man who brings me bonbons never makes me so tired as the one who doesn't.—Boston Transcript.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the services.

TROOPS HAVE CONFIDENCE IN GENERAL FOCH

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, June 14.—The German crown prince continues his desperate attempts to overcome the difficult forest regions barring his way into the Oise valley and although by heavy fighting he gets a little nearer to Compiègne his progress is very slow.

Thursday's reports are considered satisfactory on the whole by observers here. The enemy has progressed about a mile on a very narrow front northeast of Villers-Cotterets but the French troops are showing such determination and valor in counter attacks that although reports from Paris intimate it may be necessary to give further ground in the face of superior numbers, there exists a spirit of quiet confidence and trust in General Foch's prudent handling of the situation.

Both the French and German communiques indicate the terrible nature of the struggle that is proceeding the Germans having to admit the loss of some guns. It is clear too that the American forces in the region of Bouresches are showing grit in holding off the German attacks which gives the enemy great and unexpected trouble.

The battle is regarded here as a contest between opposing reserves. It is known that the crown prince has been compelled to draw slightly upon the reserves of Crown Prince Ruprecht of Bavaria, as some of Ruprecht's men have been identified among the 20 divisions the Germans have employed since June 9.

The enemy losses have been far heavier after five days of bitter fighting during which he only advanced about six miles, than during any previous engagement on the Aisne.

The view of military experts still is that the enemy's main attack has not yet been delivered. There is much speculation whether the attack will be the aim of reaching Paris, or what is regarded more likely, with the object of dividing the allied armies by a drive for the coast.
